

Soft Approach to Hard Security

For a quarter century, Australian Bollards has been the premier manufacturer of bollards for the Australian market.

When protection against high-impact collisions is required, Australian business owners have been turning to Australian Bollards with great success.

Australian Bollards is taking a soft approach to hard security with our Streetscape bollard range.

The bollards come in many shapes and materials including blue stone and granite to seamlessly blend into a wide range of environments making it ideal for parks, walkways and shopping strips.

But don't be fooled by the gentle edges and smooth surfaces, these bollards provide sturdy protection from high impact collisions.

With customisation available, these bollards are the perfect solution for architectural designers to meet safety requirements while creating a welcoming environment that is pleasing to the eye.

Many of these bollard designs also feature lighting and seating functionality.

The Streetscape range is proving that safety products don't have to come at the cost of lessening the look of an environment, in fact they can provide protection with a nice complexion.

Spherical bollards, Sydney Magistrates Court

These elegant spherical bollards in front of Sydney Magistrates Court provide protection and look aesthetically pleasing at the same time.

Planters at Media House

Strategically located on the corner of Collins and Spencer Streets opposite the major railway station of Southern Cross Station, Media House is a thriving office hub.

Due to the large number of people moving through the area every day as well as its centralised location, it's at risk of becoming a target for ram-raids and terrorist attacks as we've seen with many recent incidents at shopping centres and venues around Australia.

Australian Bollards has taken a soft approach to complement the state of the art front and keep the hub safe at the same time.

The flower pot bollards chosen for its protection fit neatly into the style without compromising on security.

This installation goes to show bollard protection can not only provide protection but can also be pleasing to the eye.

VBIED Planters, a soft approach to hard security

These two proposed solutions on Bourke Street are the perfect examples of a soft approach to hard security. The VBIED planters weigh 500 kg each and can be customised. We can for example integrate your logo into the design.

Illuminated bollards

Illuminated vanguard bollards

These practical illuminated Vanguard bollards is available from 500kg to 1.5 tonnes and can light up in different colours. They can be designed to work as an alarm system by blinking red and blue during emergencies.

Illuminated bollards

Decorative and practical illuminated bollards

We can provide illuminated bollards in many different designs, tailored to the surroundings. Illuminated bollards like Banksia (above) and Galileo (right) are both decorative and practical.

A soft approach to hard security, they are designed to mitigate hostile vehicle attacks as well as enhance the surroundings.

Sports bollards

A proposed solution for Melbourne's sporting precinct

Australia has a rich sporting culture and at the same time, sporting events can be a potential target for terrorist attacks as they are events in which large numbers of people gather.

The VBIED Spalding Bollard is the latest edition to the soft approach to hard security range.

These bollards have a proprietary security solution which enables it to have a VBIED rated protection.

The groove in the bollard has a green illumination to brighten the atmosphere at night.

The VBIED Spalding Bollard provides protection without comprising on the look of the area but rather adding excitement.

We supply a range of sports themed bollards including tennis balls, soccer balls, cricket balls, footballs and more.
